I would first like to thank all of my sponsors for making this possible. Next, I would like to thank all of my amazing friends and family for coming and cheering their hearts out for me this season; it really meant a lot to me to look up into the crowded stands and see you all yelling and screaming. Mom and Dad, this has been one amazing ride. Thank you for standing by me throughout it all; I could not have done it without you. Mom, thank you for driving me to practice every day and washing my uniform for all of these years. Dad, thank you for all the advice you have given me throughout my football career, not just about the "head-games" of athletic competition, but also on how to develop Godly character. Lastly, I would like to say that I am nothing without God. He alone deserves all the praise and glory.
